ON THE WINE TRAIL...

The Alba area is a fine wine and good food lover's delight, a wine-growing land of excellence with a rich culinary tradition, which once tasted is very difficult to forget. Sip on a glass of Barolo, the king of Piedmontese wines, or on a glass of the similarly renowned Barbaresco, or even on a glass of traditional Roero wine, accompanied by white truffle and local cheese specialties, without forgetting the locally grown hazelnuts. Regional wine cellars and shops offer a great opportunity to get a taste of the wines grown in the local area; many of them have excellent access facilities and represent stops not to be missed, along with the restaurants and taverns in which to experience the best in traditional hospitality and cuisine. Some of the farmsteads offer not only the chance to whet the appetite and taste local wines, but also guest-houses for a pleasant stay in the countryside to explore the ancient agricultural crafts. The hills of the Lower Langhe district, the Rocche of the Roero district, and green the expanses of the Upper Langhe district feature a growing number of accessible tracks and trails for horse and bike rides (in some cases, accessible to handcycles), along which to admire spectacular views of uncontaminated nature. These wine and nature trails will also take you to picturesque towns perched proudly on hilltops, each a trove of artistic and cultural treasures such as medieval towers and castles, ancient parish churches and abbeys with frescoes and sculptures of great worth.
