THREE JEWELS

of the Province of Alessandria

Take a journey through the beauty that distinguishes three towns rich in history and charm – Alessandria, the provincial capital; Casale, the heart of the Lower Monferrato district; and Valenza, home to the goldsmith's art.

Alessandria's position at the crossroads of the pilgrimage routes of the Via Francigena and the Via Marenga, which connected Liguria to the Alpine passes, can be seen in the very different artistic and cultural influences that have shaped the city. Once an important Roman centre, then stronghold in the Savoy defensive system with its monumental citadel, today Alessandria lies at the heart of the industrial and scientific triangle formed by Turin, Genoa and Milan. The Church of St. Mary-in-the-Castle, in the heart of the old Rovereto quarter, the artistic and historical wealth of Saint Peter's Cathedral, the seventeenth-century secular and religious architecture so widely present throughout the town, and the characteristic eighteenth-century aspect of some of the roads and squares, all represent calling cards of a city distinguished by a discreet charm. The Borsalino Hat Museum celebrates the local Made in Italy craft tradition, a source of worldwide pride for the city. Similarly, Valenza is known the world over for the quality and craftsmanship of the gold jewellery produced there. The town centre is filled with jewellery stores in which to admire jewellery handcrafted as the tradition dating back to the nineteenth century dictates. Typical products of the Monferrato district include the wines Barbera and Grignolino, cold meats, and the celebrated Krumiri biscuits of the historic town of Casale, a Piedmontese symbol of delight for the sweet-toothed.
